

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Vernet Nettles

Email: vac4ndr@gmail.com

vcndailypray.com

Xulon Author Releases 30-Day Devotional to Strengthen Walk With God

With “life” happening to all of us, God’s grace and mercy is available to each of us.

MAITLAND, FL—Within the pages of Vernet Nettles’ new book, Why Should I Be Bound? ($15.99, paperback, 9781545634592; $7.99, ebook, 9781545634608), readers will find a 30-day experience written to invigorate the spiritual walk of those seeking to further their relationship with God. Readers will learn that, with God’s promises, we do not have to be bound by life’s distractions.

“Why Should I Be Bound? engages various worshippers,” says Nettles. With each devotional, readers will find a Scripture, hymn, poetry, and journaling space. The Scripture appeals to those who prefer study and context. The referenced hymn provides strength in lyrics. The poetry presents artful praise, and the journal facilitates personal reflection.

Why Should I Be Bound? reminds us that life is universal; “it” happens to all of us. Yet, God’s grace and mercy is accessible to each of us.

Vernet C. Nettles, EdD is a parent, a veteran educator, and a poet. She has served as a member of the Board of Christian Education, as well as a Sunday school and Bible study teacher, among others. She also holds and has held administrative positions in education.

Xulon Press, a division of Salem Media Group, is the world’s largest Christian self-publisher, with more than 12,000 titles published to date. Why Should I Be Bound? is available online through xulonpress.com/bookstore, amazon.com, and barnesandnoble.com.